We each have our own way of dealing with conflict. The techniques we use are based on many variables such as our basic underlying temperament, our personality, our environment and where we are in our professional career. However, by and large there are five major styles of conflict management techniques in our tool box. In order to address conflict we draw from a collaborating, competing, avoiding, accommodating or compromising style of conflict management. None of these strategies is superior in and of itself.

How effective they are depends on the context in which they are used.

Each statement below provides a strategy for dealing with a conflict. RATE EACH STATEMENT ON A SCALE OF 1 TO 4 INDICATING HOW LIKELY YOU ARE TO USE THIS STRATEGY. PLEASE PRINT THIS OUT AND TURN IT IN WHEN YOU ARRIVE AT THE WORKSHOP SATURDAY MORNING!

1 = Rarely 2 = Sometimes 3 = Often 4 = Always

Be sure to answer the questions indicating how you would behave rather than how you think you should behave.

I explore issues with others so as to find solutions that meet everyone's needs. I try to negotiate and adopt a give-and-take approach to problem situations.
3. I try to meet the expectations of others.
4. I would argue my case and insist on the merits of my point of view.
5. When there is a disagreement, I gather as much information as I can and keep the lines of communication open.
 When I find myself in an argument, I usually say very little and try to leave as soon as possible.
7. I try to see conflicts from both sides. What do I need? What does the other person Need? What are the issues involved?
8. I prefer to compromise when solving problems and just move on.
9. I find conflicts challenging and exhilarating; I enjoy the battle of wits that usually follows.
10. Being at odds with other people makes me feel uncomfortable and anxious.
11. I try to accommodate the wishes of my friends and family.
12. I can figure out what needs to be done and I am usually right.
13. To break deadlocks, I would meet people halfway.
14. I may not get what I want but it's a small price to pay for keeping the peace.
15. I avoid hard feelings by keeping my disagreements with others to myself.
